

ONE LAST LOOK

The 81-82 yearbook is dedicated to ...

Over the past 21 years, Mrs. Spink has been a fixture in the mathematics department at Enfield High, Kosciuszko and Kennedy Junior Highs teaching seventh, eighth, and ninth grades.

Born in Cranston, Rhode Island, she started her teaching career 43 years ago. After earning her Bachelor and Master Degrees from Rhode Island College. She taught in Cranston, Rhode Island and Royal Oak, Michigan before coming to Enfield.

An accomplished violin player, she is also a regular racing fan at Stafford Springs Speedway.

Throughout her teaching career, Mrs. Spink has brought her unique style to mathematics. She has taken a genuine interest in her students, both past and present, as she follows their progress through high school.

Crosby, Stills, Nash and Young once sang a song that advised parents to "teach the children well". They must have been talking to Mrs. Spink because she has. The faculties and schools that she graced were much richer with her than we will be without her.

Linnea Spink

Can I put my hands down now?

A little prayer wouldn't hurt.

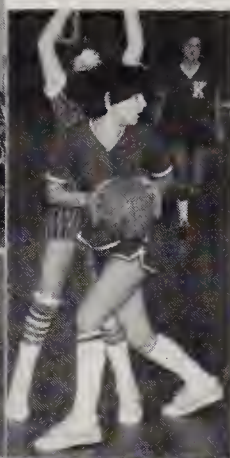

What a headache I have.

Hey, when you're good, you're good!

They must have heard what we're serving.

We, Angela Beaupre, Chris Cotnoir, and Maureen Hayes, leave Miss Nealon our special gratitude for being such a great coach and friend.

I, Dena Nelson, leave Mr. LaBreck an artist so his future classes will know what he's drawing on the board.

I, Craig Janney, leave Todd Archambault the book I Love Myself, in hopes that he keeps up the tradition in his new school, Enfield High.

I, Patti Connors, leave Mr. Connors a box of "Cozy Kitchen" fudge to thank him for all the things he has done to help me during my stay at J.F.K.

We, Beth Surapine and Dawn Whalen, leave Mr. LaBreck a fire extinguisher so he can put out his own fires instead of bothering the fire department.

We, Holly, Cindy and Lynn, leave Mr. Cove a tape recorder to save from repeating himself by taping "Au Contraire" and "Please not this down."

We, Elaine Kadamus and Kathy Kaplan, leave Mrs. O'Brien all our homework papers on verbs. Why should we start using them now?

We, Steve Krawic, Tim Keegan, Hyla Tatro, and Dena Nelson, leave the kitchens of Home-ec in one big salty and sudsy mess.

I, Sarah Peel, leave Mr. Haley the book, How to Rank Out Peel, which he wrote himself and used too much.

We, Lynn Piemonte and Erin Sidway, leave Mr. Pastore a pair of Sporto shoes so he can be just like us.

I, Angela Beaupre, leave Miss Lauria a toy plane from McDonald's happy meal since hers broke.

We, the last varsity cheerleaders at J.F.K., leave Miss Gademan the memories of all the terrific times we had.

We, Jim Carden, Michelle Bousquet, Melissa Irish, Mary Lorenc, Cindy Mottolese, and Lynn Gourinski, leave Mr. Girard our "Chevy", some extra leather, and a new laser gun to control his future space cadets.

We, Beth Haggard, Cherie Pierce, Diane Badger, and Sue Pape, leave Mr. Askin a pack of batteries for his glow-in-the dark sweaters.

We, Chris Cotnoir and Jackie Yeager, leave a great big THANK YOU to Missy Clark, Jackie Slater, Maureen Hayes, Kate Dolan, and Angela Beaupre, for being wonderful friends these past three years.

We, Marijean Panella and Jill Ouellette, leave Mr. Stoll and Mr. Elliott each a pair of Melvin Klein jeans.

We, Mr. Hoza's fifth period class, leave him a whole roll of red paper for his next year's Christmas stocking.

We, Cheryl Ralston and Belinda Lowe, leave Mrs. Caban's class still unable to cross out the prepositional phrase.

The ninth graders leave J.F.K. a supply of stoplights so that future students won't be caught in the onrushing stampede while changing classes.

I, Leah Bell, leave Mr. Bell his son, Darren Bell.

I, Linda Horvath, leave Mr. LaBeck and Mr. Askin the book, How to Better Convince People that You Never Make Mistakes, so that their future students just might believe them.

We, Cathy Arvantely and Lisa Hoyt, leave Mr. Madore the lunch schedule for 82-83 so the future 8th graders will not have to go through another quiche day.

I, Sherri Stracener, leave Mickey Barile to Lisa Fattino since she has always wanted him.

We, the 80-81 eighth grade blue house team, leave Mrs. Heye and Mr. Reynolds together.

We, Kathy Parakilas and Sarah Peel, leave Mr. Girard our lunchboxes so he can think of us "foxes" while he eats his lunch.

I, Carmen Rivera, leave all of the great memories of the times which I had at J.F.K. to someone else so that they might enjoy the school.

I, Patty Scully, leave piles of blank homework paper to all of the teachers I had to show that at least I saved the paper they handed out.

We, Belinda Lowe and Cheryl Ralston, leave Mr. Breault a new set of Cosmic words for his future use.

We, the eighth and ninth graders of White House, leave Mr. Fletcher a sliding door so he will no longer block the hall.

I, Karen Tougas, leave Mrs. Dumais a new rank book to replace the one in which I made a few mistakes.

I, Sarah Peel, leave Rob Vose with the satisfaction of knowing that he is "my main man".

We, Lisa Longo and Paula Margolfo, leave Mrs. Hargraves a big "THANK YOU" for all of her fine effort and help and also for putting up with us when we were in our "silly" moods.

We, Cathy Arvantely, Lisa Hoyt, and Beth Tipppo, leave Mr. Madore all "Les Snobs de Paris."

We, Pam Caplette and Wendy Boudreau, leave Mr. Kiner a year's supply of ditto maps so the kids he has next year won't have to draw them.

I, Lisa Annecharico, leave Mr. Reynolds a Webster's Dictionary so he can find out what the word "insidious" really means.

We, Chris Evans, Erin Shea, Carin Mothes, and "Moochoo", leave Mr. Krautcuk the joy of knowing that we'll all be leaving him soon.

We, Dayna Mullin and Dena Nelson, leave Mr. Bodnar our famous names, "Ding" and "Dong", to use on other kids as "dingy" and "dongy" as we are.

We, the class of '86, leave now never to return again...at least not until next year's half days.

I, Linda Horvath, leave Pattie Connors a supply of dead frogs and worms so she can dissect something.

We, Carrie Rizzo and Michelle Walsh, leave Tony Thornton a jar of Cover Girl cover-up to conceal his bright red nose in the winter.

We, Amy Chapman and Lisa Annecharico, leave Dina Croce all the memories of the great times the 3 of us had together.

We, Dena Nelson and Dayna Mullin, leave Mrs. Spink the fact that we learned to respect decimal points.

I, who shall remain anonymous, leave J.F.K. a new bell system and set of clocks in hopes that next year's students will be able to tell whether they're going to be early or late for class. After all, who wants to be EARLY for class.

We, Krissy Garlan and Chris DiNatale, leave Mr. Cowles, hoping that by now he'd realize what a dull class it would have been without us.

We, the Yearbook Staff, leave a HUGE CONGRATULATIONS to MR. CLARKIN and his hockey team for becoming number 1 in the state.

I, Dawn Oneto, leave Mr. Plamondon a candy keychain so he can chew on that instead of his plastic one. I also pass on the nickname, Fish, he gave me to Cara Della Guistina, in hopes she can keep him "swim-happy."

We, Mrs. Dyer's third period class, leave her a large bag of caramels to replace the ones we ate.

We, Sue Long and Cara Picano, leave Mr. Sunter 500 pieces of white-lined paper so he can write a book entitled The Continuing Saga for someone who really cares.

We, Cheryl Ralston, Michele Kamm, and Belinda Lowe, leave Kennedy hoping that there is another troublesome trio to replace us.

I, Missy Clark, thank Mr. Charland for being such a good friend when I needed one.

We, Mrs. Willard's Biology class, leave her a speeding ticket in hopes that she will SLOW ....down!

We, Chris Walsh and Kathy Parakilas, leave Sarah Peel and Audrey Fusco with the hope that we can still be close friends even though they are going to E.H.S.

We, Jennifer Rask and Kelly Gokey, leave John Matheson and Troy Whidfeldt the book, One Hundred Ways to Get Out of Trouble, and hope that they will read it.

We, Mrs. Larson's 2nd period class, leave her two clean blackboards, a circle of desks, and a straight "A" student.

I, Leah Bell, leave Mr. Gregorski a big smile for all of his constant encouragement to turn my frown upside down.

We, Michelle Bolduc and Lisa Annecharico, leave Mr. Fisher knowing that he'll become a millionaire when he writes his book, How To Be A Male Chauvanist.

We, Cherly Ralston and Belinda Lowe, leave Mr. Cowles a cheering uniform to go with his saddle shoes.

I, Kathy Parakilas, leave Mr. Reynolds the name "Jackie" so maybe someday he can rename some other student.

We, Dawn Oneto and Lisa Pond, leave Mrs. McCarthy all the vocabulary words we could never spell so she can try them out on someone else.

We, Carra Zukowski, Chris Caminiti and Tom Couture, leave Mr. Fletcher a list of 101 ways to imitate Fedor.

We, the 80-81 White House Team, leave a very special thank you to Mrs. Dumais, Mrs. Hargraves, Mrs. Wojciehowski, Mr. Wood, and Mr. Garrity for everything they did for us. School was almost enjoyable with them.

We, Sarah Peel, Erin Sidway, Tammy Villani, and Lisa Dubreiul, leave Mr. Hoza a can of Raid so he can get rid of the pest who interrupt his classes.

I, one of Mr. Charland's students, leave him one checkerboard so he doesn't wear out his checkered sports jacket playing checkers on it.

I, Lisa Annecharico, leave Mrs. Ivanisin another student whom she can call "Smiley" after I'm gone.

We, Dave Schaefer, Steve Roy, Larry Murray, and Patty T., leave Mrs. Hargraves a year's supply of Peanuts and Sesame Street stickers.

We, Jennifer Rask and Georgia Thomas, leave Mr. Nazewicz a little elf to help him correct all of his papers.

"Memories"

All we have left are memories,
The smiling face that came through that door each day.
Everyone of us loved him
In our own special way.

All we have left are memories,
I know you wish we had more,
Yes, I know it may seem strange
That only the good die young and
I doubt it will ever change.

All we have left are memories,
Of that sweet boy who made
Everyone feel so good.
He was so friendly and witty
No matter where he stood.

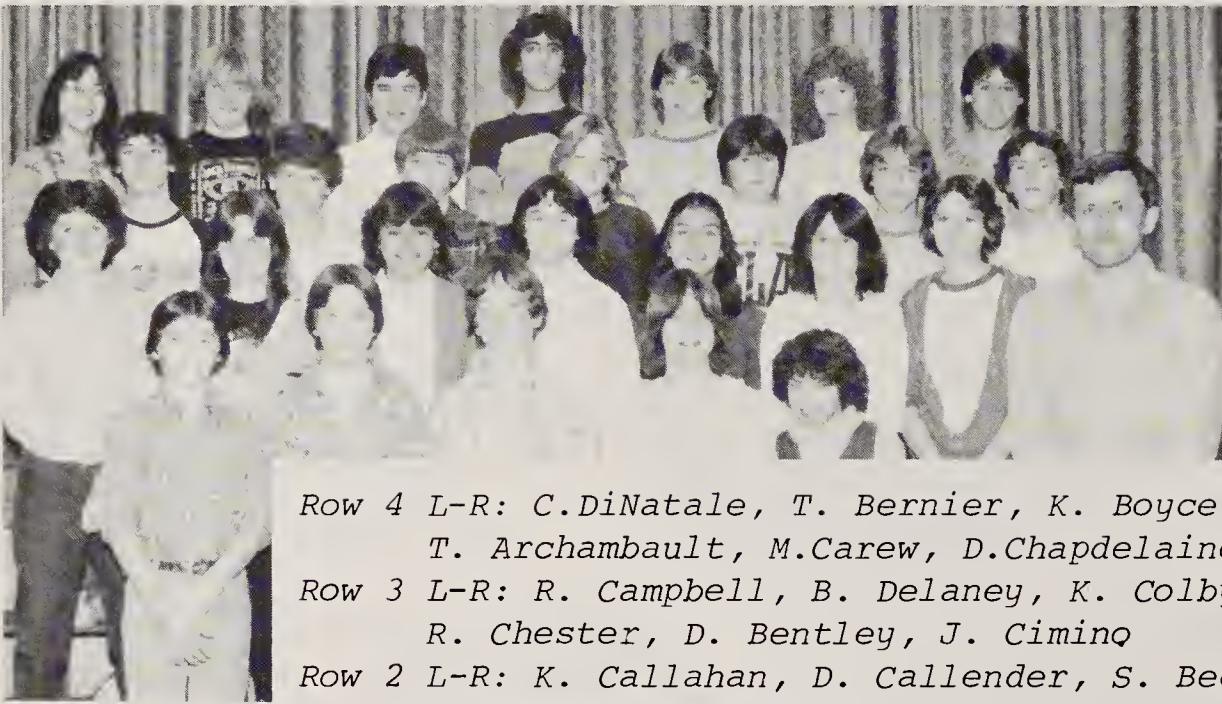

All we have left are mem ories,
But it's better than nothing at all.
He'll be in all of our hearts
And we'll pray for him each day.
I know none of this seems fair or right.
We'll remember him in our own special way-
